

TORCHING TRAINING SET

The training set is designed to teach torching process practically. It is produced to help students to be more prepared and useful on the field. The set also enables students to recognize the material with the torching process. It provides the opportunity to put physic laws knowledge into practice. The entire set is made of durable materials.

